

Shift Of Funds For Districting Task Proposed

LANSING (UPI)—Rep. Russell H. Strange, R-Mount Pleasant, has prepared a resolution that would authorize shifting of funds appropriated to the secretary of state to provide $45,000 for the State Apportionment Commission.

Strange said Monday he would submit the resolution at the one-day legislative session set for Dec. 9.

The apportionment commission, reactivated Nov. 2 by the State Supreme Court, is operating without funds. Strange's resolution would provide for expenses and salaries of $35 a working day for each of the eight commissioners.

He said the figures were "tentative, subject to the will of the legislature and an actual determination of need" by the Commission.

"The constitution clearly mandates the legislature to provide funds for the Commission and we must act on Dec. 9 in order to fulfill this mandate," Strange said.

Under the Constitution, it would be impossible for the legislature to make a flat appropriation for the Commission in just one day, but it could act to authorize a transfer of funds within an existing appropriation.

Corpsmen Get 13-Day Holiday At Fort Custer

BATTLE CREEK (UPI)—About 650 trainees at the Fort Custer Job Corps Center will start a 13-day holiday on Dec. 22 and return to their homes in various parts of the nation.

In the national program, about 60 per cent of the 16,000 members in Job Corps training centers will spend the Christmas holidays at their homes.

The government will pick up the tab and pay the bill for round-trip travel expenses.

All corpsmen are entitled to transportation-paid home leave after six months of service in the program.

JACKSON (UPI)—Daniel C. Sanderson, 5, drowned Tuesday in a pond behind his family's home at nearby Sweet Lake.

Authorities said the boy apparently fell through thin ice while playing. His body was recovered by his father, Howard Sanderson.

Patients At Ionia Held Illegally, Says Professor

LANSING (UPI)—A psychiatrist Tuesday told the House Mental Health Committee that both the Ionia State Hospital and the laws that put people there should be eliminated.

Dr. Andrew Watson estimated 250 of the 1,300 persons in the maximum security facility for the criminally insane are being held illegally. Most of those 250 are sent there after being found incompetent to stand trial, he said.

"If you are committed to Ionia you probably stand a better than one-half chance of dying there without going to trial," Watson said. "It's the kind of situation that would make a lawyer blanch."

Watson, an associate professor in the university hospital at Ann Arbor, acted as spokesman for an eight-member medical

Election Race Has de Gaulle Running Scared

PARIS (UPI)—President Charles de Gaulle appeared to be running scared today in a surprisingly narrow race for the presidency.

De Gaulle made his first speech of the current political campaign Tuesday night, warning of "hateful confusion" within France if he is not re-elected.

The speech had been scheduled suddenly, apparently prompted by political polls indicating his popularity had dropped to less than 50 per cent among voters who already have made up their minds.

In the hard-hitting television address, De Gaulle claimed credit for most of the changes in France since World War II. He cited the social security act, the nationalization of major companies, suffrage for women and farm reforms.

The president attempted to knock down his opponents' common campaign pledges for a reversal of the Gaullist policy of calculated aloofness toward France's Common Market and NATO partners.

De Gaulle feels a runoff would be beneath him, and that his role in French life demands an overwhelming endorsement on the first ballot.

This was the reason he agreed to Tuesday night's speech. In accepting the advice of his aides De Gaulle obviously had become an active candidate for the presidency—not the aloof office-holder confidently awaiting re-election.

Jean Lecanuet, the personal young Centrist whose "Kennedy style" campaign helped pressure De Gaulle into making the extra speech, appeared on television immediately before the president.

He said De Gaulle should not worry about chaos after his departure — that France has young men ready to take over the ship of state.

offenders under the care of the State Mental Health Department. The department would be responsible for placing patients in the proper institutions.

The committee also has recommended the department build a 20-bed or more diagnostic center in Southeastern Michigan for reception of patients from the courts and examination of those ready to face trial or be put on parole.

Committee chairman Charles F. Raap, D-Muskegon, said the committee has heard no opposition to recommendations that a phase out of Ionia be started as soon as possible and completed in two years. He said the necessary legislation probably will be introduced in the 1966 legislative session.

The committee has scheduled a hearing next week on the hospital question.

Watson blamed a "snowball" effect of unneeded maximum security precautions at Ionia for many of the 71 patient suicides at the hospital since 1926. A series of recent patient suicides triggered the investigation into hospital conditions.

"There is no necessity whatsoever for the kind of security that exists at Ionia," he said. "You only antagonize the patients, which results in more suicides, and in turn keeps the staff on edge. It's a vicious circle."

The Milwaukee Sentinel said he kept the records of arrivals and departures of the women at the request of the FBI. He said he recognized certain women suspected of prostitution because "there's a mark about them."

In past years "the girls were free lance, more or less," the witness said. "They paid off the tavern owner. Now the pay-off goes to the syndicate. This is big stuff. You're really going to get some big stories out of this before it's over."

"This time they're going after the syndicate, it looks like to me," he said.

Cuban Refugee Airlift Is Biggest In History

First Flight To Miami Has 92 Passengers

MIAMI (UPI)—The U.S. launches what is slated to become the biggest refugee airlift in history today by flying in 92 Cuban refugees aboard a chartered commercial airliner.

They are the vanguard of thousands — probably a minimum of 100,000—expected to pour into this country via Miami during a period of years under an agreement with the Fidel Castro regime.

A chartered Pan American DCTC from Miami was expected back here by 10:30 a.m. EST with the first refugees. They were to board the plane at Varadero Airport, 80 miles east of Havana.

The plane was expected to leave Miami at 7 a.m. for the one-hour flight to Cuba.

People "Screened" Havana dispatches said 92 persons would be aboard the plane for the 202-return flight to Miami. Their names were "screened" in advance by U.S. officials to guard against entry of Castro subversives.

Four U.S. immigration and public health officials were on the plane, along with the five-man crew.

The launching of the airlift, which will run on a five-day-a-week basis, followed the landing in Key West Tuesday night of 83 other Cubans aboard the charter boat Skipper K in an unscheduled extension of the U.S. sea lift of refugees that had officially ended last week.

Employment Problem? Their arrival raised to about 5,000 the total number of Cubans to enter Florida by sea since Castro's Sept. 28 announcement of an "open door" policy for Cuban malcontents wanting to leave the island.

State Department officials said. Between 3,000 and 4,000 refugees will be airlifted from Varadero each month—a maximum of 48,000 a year. There are at least 175,000 Cubans wanting to leave the island, according to reports filed by exiles residing in cities throughout the United States.

This figure triggered new fears among local officials that the coming Cuban exodus will touch off unemployment and economic problems in Miami.

Federal officials promised that "most" of the new arrivals will be resettled to other U.S. cities, but Miami — already jammed with an estimated 100,000 exiles—remains the mecca for most Cubans.

Long Space Trip Set For Saturday

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell today sought a medical go-ahead for blastoff Saturday on man's longest venture in space.

Starting at 7 a.m. EST, the two 37-year-old space pilots faced a five-hour session in the doctor's office to make sure they are physically fit for the grueling 14-day flight.

Gemini 6's space chase pilots, Walter Schirra and Thomas

Stafford, also had medical appointments today, for preliminary tests for their Dec. 13 launch.

None expected difficulties. Nor were any problems reported with any of the machines supporting the ambitious year-ending space spectacular.

Afternoon Launch Barring last-minute snags, the 8,000-pound Gemini 7 spacecraft will be lifted into the sky at 2:30 p.m. EST Saturday. It will be the first afternoon launch in the Gemini program.

The around-the-clock grind for many of Gemini's engineers and technicians gets underway later today with the start of "T-minus 3 days" preparations leading up to the final countdown. For some, the work won't end until Gemini 6 is sent on its way to attempt an historic space rendezvous.

Pre-launch activity also was picking up elsewhere.

The global network of tracking stations that must keep tabs on both capsules as they whirl around the earth under a final full-scale dress rehearsal Tuesday. It was called "highly successful."

Recovery Ship

The giant aircraft carrier Wasp, the main recovery ship for all four Astronauts, sailed from Boston Tuesday and is steaming to its station south of Bermuda to be on hand Saturday in the event of an emergency landing.

But if all goes well, the 899-foot ship and its 2,400 crewmen won't see the astronauts until Schirra and Stafford splash down in the Atlantic on Dec. 15—two days after launch.

Borman and Lovell are set to come down three days later. The Gemini 7 pilots spent most of Tuesday reviewing the long flight plan that calls for them to circle the globe 206 times and break by six days the world's space endurance record set by Gemini 5 in August.

Besides flying longer in space than anyone else, the astronauts will boost America's total man-hours in orbit to 1,300-2½ times the total logged by Russian cosmonauts.

State Revenue Up 14 Per Cent

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan business, soaring along at a record high level, poured more than $54.5 million into the state treasury in sales and use taxes during November, the State Department of Revenue reported Tuesday.

The taxes, representing October business, were 14 per cent over October business a year ago, said revenue Commissioner Clarence W. Lock.

"This is the 46th consecutive month in which collections have exceeded the previous year," said Lock. "In other words, we continue to pile increase on top of increases."

He also said preliminary reports point to "one of the heaviest Christmas shopping seasons in years" that will continue record-high revenue intake "at least into early 1966."

Fire Traps Six Children In Home

QUAKERTOWN, Pa. (UPI)—Six children were trapped by a fatal fire which raced through their two-story frame home in nearby Taubauersville late Tuesday night. The mother and oldest son were burned in futile attempts to reach them.

Five of the bodies were recovered today and firemen searched through the burned wreckage for the sixth victim.

A seventh child, Alonzo, 12, was pulled from the burning building by his mother despite burns she suffered when her clothing caught fire. Alonzo was in Quakertown Community Hospital suffering burns and smoke inhalation.

Johnson Waits For Report On Viet Nam War

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson awaited a first-hand war report from Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara today before deciding how to counter the fast-rising infiltration of Communist troops into Viet Nam.

McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were expected to fly to the LBJ Ranch either Thursday or Friday to discuss the fighting in Southeast Asia and other global problems.

Another increase in U.S. forces in Viet Nam and greater use of air power to shut off the enemy infiltration were among measures reported to be under consideration.

In a related development, Johnson tapped Rear Adm. John J. Hyland, 53, to take command of the U.S. 7th Fleet that is backing up American ground troops and launching air raids from Navy carriers in the South China Sea.

Given Promotion Hyland, decorated for heroism in aerial combat also was promoted to vice admiral and ordered to report for duty with the fleet this weekend. He has been director of the Navy's Strategic Plans Office in the Pentagon and coordinated carrier-based attacks on Japan during World War II.

Rusk may discuss approaching U.S. visits by Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard. All are expected to be at the ranch but there is a possibility that Johnson may see Ayub and Wilson in Washington.

Long War Predicted McNamara has forecast a long war because of the decision by Viet Cong and North Viet Nam troops to stand and fight. But he reported after returning from a 36-hour visit to the combat zone that "we have stopped losing the war."

He and Rusk came to Texas last Nov. 11 and President Johnson authorized the sending of additional American forces to check growing Communist strength on the battlefield. At that time McNamara said Johnson had told him to approve requests of military commanders in Viet Nam for troops beyond the 160,000 already there.

The President planned another quiet day and his calendar was free of appointments as he continued his recovery from gall bladder surgery. He was said to be "feeling fine" Tuesday after being somewhat fatigued on Monday.

Lions Escape

CASABLANCA, Morocco (UPI)—Three circus lions escaped from their cage Tuesday and spread near panic in a Casablanca suburb.

Medical Tests Elaborate For Space Voyage

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—An anonymous wag called it "14 days in the doctor's office," and astronaut John Young dubbed it "two weeks in the men's room." Whatever the nickname, the marathon voyage of U.S. astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell was planned as the most elaborate set of medical experiments ever attempted in space—a flight that could pave the way for future long-distance journeys aboard orbiting space stations.

Doctors waited to examine everything from the astronauts' brain waves to their heel bones. Borman and Lovell also were ordered to abide by a strict food-and-drink diet and to bring home every bit of body waste—liquid and solid, including sweat.

The experts were unworried about what a record period of weightlessness would do to the human body. "I certainly don't look for anything that's going to be of serious nature for us right now for a 14-day exposure," said Dr. Charles Berry, astronaut physician.

Main Interest

The main medical interest centered in two areas: 1. The prospect that, in weightlessness, the human skeleton tends to lose some of its bone-hardening calcium; 2. A curious disappearance of some red blood cells in the bodies of previous astronauts exposed to zero gravity.

Finding out where the calcium goes was the purpose of perhaps the most complicated of the eight experiments aboard Gemini 7—the one entitled "Calcium Balance Study," or simply "M-7." It required keeping all the body waste for later medical examination on the ground.

Hand-in-glove with that was the "M-5" experiment, "bioassays of body fluids," which required the astronauts to package and store all liquid waste. The two tests represent "a very great undertaking," Berry said.

"It's probably the most difficult experiment from the crew standpoint to implement that we've had," Borman said.

X-Ray Heel Bone Following the flight, doctors planned to X-ray the small finger and heel bone of each astronaut to look for calcium loss. This experiment was dubbed "M-6."

Also after landing, Borman and Lovell were scheduled for a series of X-rays by experts looking for expected decreases in the numbers of red blood cells. Doctors said the cells may "hide out" in other parts of the body, such as the liver and spleen.

Other experiments included set of inflatable cuffs, worn by Lovell, to determine whether it offers protection against the "pooling" of blood in the legs after an astronaut lands; an elastic cord-type exerciser to keep the orbiting astronauts in shape; a phonocardiogram to give doctors a means of keeping tabs on the mechanical activity of the astronauts' hearts; an electroencephalograph to permit experts to measure the spacemen's "brain waves" while they were asleep; and a vision tester to determine any changes in the astronauts' sense of orientation during weightlessness.

Milk Production And Income Dip

October milk production in the Upper Peninsula brought farmer producers a higher price than a year ago, but less income because the number of producers had slipped and so had the volume of production.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, which administers the U. P. Milk Marketing Order, says the blend (average) price of milk was $4.24 per hundredweight compared with $4.13 and that total production was 8.7 million pounds, compared with 9.4 million in October, 1964, of which 85 per cent went to the Class I (drinking milk) market compared with 83 per cent.

The number of farm producers slipped from 534 to 512 and total income was $396,817 compared with $414,744 or an average of $175.01 per producer for a 7 day average compared with $175.38 a year ago.

Holiday Fire Dangers Told

A safe Christmas holiday season was urged today by Escanaba Fire Chief Nels Bergeon, who said that managers of retail stores, by following a few simple rules, can help keep their establishments firesafe.

Keep all aisles and exits free from obstructions at all times. Panic and a pile-up of people seeking to go through a narrow space can be almost as dangerous as fire itself, he said.

Be sure that all exits are clearly marked.

Dispose of empty packing cases, cartons, and other waste materials promptly as soon as goods are unpacked. Store-rooms, back rooms and basements should be cleared of such waste material daily.

Smoking should be permitted only in specifically designated areas.

Before the holiday rush is on, clerks and other employees should be given instructions on what to do in case of fire. Employees should be told to urge customers to remain calm and file outside quickly in an orderly fashion in the event of fire.

Clerks and other employees should be given instruction on how to handle fire extinguishers and other fire emergency equipment. They should be told, however, that fire extinguishers may be used to control small fires, at the first sign of flames or smoke, the fire department should be notified immediately, the fire chief continued.

The store should work out a fire reporting plan. Clerks should be divided into teams of three in training for a fire emergency. One of the three should be assigned to manning the fire extinguisher, the second should call the fire department by telephone and the third should direct the firemen to the location of the fire.

In decorating the store for Christmas, only non-flammable or at least slow-burning materials should be used. Holiday decorations should be kept away from electric light bulbs.

If special wiring is required in connection with Christmas decorations, employ only a qualified electrician to do the work.

UPCAP To Meet Dec. 7 On New Director Choice

UPCAP's delegate body has been called to meet at the State Office Building in Escanaba on Tuesday, Dec. 7 to name a secretary to succeed Robert Ray, Ironwood telephone executive, resigned, and to set up a procedure to replace Dr. E. V. Bowden, resigned executive director.

Officers of the Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress set up the quarterly meeting in a conference telephone call Monday night, in which they accepted the resignation of Dr. Bowden, effective Jan. 1, and authorized Fred Hahne, Manistique, treasurer, to make a loan to finance UPCAP until more funds are received from Washington.

The four year old economic development agency with headquarters in Escanaba has expenses of about $12,000 a month and currently owes back pay to its staff of 17.

"The federal government owes us plenty of money," said Dr. Bowden "our need is for cash now."

UPCAP In Tangle

The action of the UPCAP delegate body in admitting to voting membership representatives of federal War on Poverty agencies which it is serving and the four universities active in the U. P. was followed by the resignation of Dr. Bowden and Ray. The changes leave UPCAP in a complicated tangle and it seemed uncertain today whether the Dec. 7 meeting could untangle it and chart a new course for UPCAP immediately.

UPCAP was organized under Michigan Act 200, which permits local governments to organize to solve regional problems. It's not clear yet, said Dr. Bowden, whether UPCAP in its reorganized state can continue as a legal entity or whether it must be reorganized as a non-profit corporation.

Uncle Owes UPCAP

There's also the problem of UPCAP's Economic Opportunity Committee, which has been given federal grants for technical assistance in War on Poverty projects. Under the reorganization the committee will dissolve itself and its functions will be taken over by the enlarged delegate body of UPCAP, but the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington must approve these changes so that use of the federal grant is legal. This takes time and meanwhile Washington owes UPCAP more than $15,000 for services performed and UPCAP can't pay its people.

Dr. Bowden was asked by the officers to prepare an agenda for the Dec. 7 meeting which will devote the morning session to the "must" business of UPCAP and the afternoon to plans. The agenda will cover finances, personnel, operating program, relations of the executive, staff and delegates, etc.

Bowden's Future

Eligible to vote Dec. 7 will be the 14 delegates representing the county boards of supervisors who created UPCAP. The representatives of the universities and Community Action Agencies must be validated by amendment of the by-laws and written notice must be given 10 days prior to action so it appears that probably only the county delegates will be voting Dec. 7.

Dr. Bowden, who has been with UPCAP for a year and a half, said his own plans are indefinite. He had been offered a college chair of economics, he said and several economic development offices and he said he thought he would stay in economic development.

The officers of UPCAP are Harold Detman, St. Ignace, chairman; Lynn Sandberg, L'Ange, vice chairman, and Hahne.

Urge 'Yes' Vote:

Airport Millage Need Is Cited

Speakers representing Delta County industries told why the local airport needs improvement and why industry favors "yes" vote on a millage proposal in talks to the Rotary Club at the House of Ludington Tuesday noon.

Voters of Delta County will go to the polls on Dec. 6 to decide whether 2 mills will be levied for one year to finance the proposed airport improvements.

The proposition is being submitted to the voters by the Delta County Board of Supervisors.

The Rotary Club meeting was conducted by Don Yost, club president, and Paul Snyder presented John Anthony, chairman of the special airport study committee whose report was received by the County Board of Supervisors.

The speakers were Anthony, proprietor of Anthony & Co.; Raymond O. Fish, plant manager, Harnischfeger Corp.; George S. Douglas, general manager, Mead Corp.; and George Harvey, Escanaba city manager.

Harnischfeger's operations in Escanaba require adequate air service and airport facilities, said Fish. Airport conditions here are inadequate and fail to meet some rudimentary needs, such as a hard-surfaced parking area for planes. Harnischfeger Corp.'s plane averages one trip a week to Escanaba and in addition there is considerable use of commercial air express and parcel post and freight.

Mead Corp. supports the airport millage tax proposal and believes the financing of airport improvements is essential, said Douglas. "The terminal building is a disgrace, certainly it is the worst one in the Upper Peninsula," he said.

George Harvey advised the Rotarians that everyone may vote on the millage proposal. They are required only to be registered and eligible to vote. Anthony discussed aspects of financing of the proposed airport improvement and said that both the 2 mills and the maintenance and operating costs would be levied fairly on the basis of equalized valuation. Escanaba would pay approximately 42 per cent of the total, Wells Township (where Mead Corp. has its plant) has property valuation representing 16 per cent, Gladstone city 10 per cent and so on down to 1 per cent for Fairbanks Township.

The requested 2 mills for one year will return $152,665 to Delta County. The proposed improvements to the airport, including a runway extension and terminal building and other needs, will total $521,000, with the difference coming from state and federal participation.

Bond Jumper From Detroit Is Jailed In Texas

DETROIT (UPI) — Thomas Rico Adams, 34, one of the Detroit Police Department's "five most wanted men," was captured in San Antonio, Tex., during a burglary over the weekend, police were informed.

Adams skipped out on $10,000 in bonds earlier this month while awaiting trial here on three burglary charges.

Authorities said extradition of Adams back to Michigan will depend on the outcome of the case against him in San Antonio.

Germfask

Germfask is among communities to receive new mercury vapor street lighting next year under U. P. Power Co. plans. Forest Lake and AuTrain also are programmed next year. Seney was converted this year, as was Wetmore. A start has been made at Shingleton. At Munising 228 new lights have been installed, replacing 294 of the incandescents, but giving seven times more light.

William Joyce, the notorious "Lord Haw Haw" of World War II, was hanged in London for his treasonable acts in broadcasting for the Nazis.

PROMOTED recently to SP4 is Oliver W. LaPalm, stationed with the U. S. Army in San Francisco. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. LaPalm of 215 N. 19th St.

Chatham

Three candidates have filed for village council posts to be filled in an election Dec. 6. They are Henry Norman, Mrs. Shirley Lammi, and Neil Yitalo. The two receiving the highest number of votes will serve four year terms and the low vote-getter, two years.

HAND CARE FOR KIDS
NEW YORK (UPI)—A little pre-play care can keep children's hands from getting rough and grimy, the Cleanliness Bureau suggests.

Before sandpile or mudpie time, teach the youngsters the trick of scraping their nails over a bar of soap to get a layer under the tips. This will keep the dirt from staining. Then, at bathtime, scrub the nails gently with a very soft brush dipped in soapy water.

Cat Yowls Save Family In Fire

BATTLE CREEK (UPI) — A three-year-old orange and gold cat by the name of Taffy roused Mrs. Marcia Barker and her three children Monday when fire broke out at their home.

The cat yowled and finally jumped on Mrs. Barker's bed. Mrs. Barker and the children, Paul, 17, Emily 15, and John, 8, fled the house.

The blaze started in a clothes closet and firemen were able to control it before it could spread and cause heavy damage.

What's Beauty Worth?

One of the difficult things for the Upper Peninsula to learn has been the value of beauty. Nature has been rather prodigal in providing it in the Land of Hiawatha so its people have grown up with it and acquired the contempt of familiarity.

They have not realized, unless they became traveled, that nature hasn't been as generous with many other areas in her provision of beautiful vistas, and that the area has a unique character and charm. For one thing it is still surprisingly unspoiled in a Midwest region teeming with people and grimy with industrial development.

There's still so much natural beauty left that our people don't think it economically sinful to impose on nature some of our man-made ugliness, like auto graveyards, dumps, and signs in scenic situations.

The Upper Peninsula's beauty is one of the great resources of its tourist business. And the tourist business is regarded as one of the area's best chances for economic growth. So the U. P. has been urged by all its counselors on tourism development to preserve this resource of scenic beauty and not let it deteriorate by roadside disfigurement.

We haven't learned the lesson well nor acted effectively on the counsel. Dr. Clare Gunn, Michigan State University tourism specialist, reports a serious roadside deterioration in the U.P. in the past 20 years. It's not really that we don't know better, perhaps, but that we get hurtling. When a landowner can get $20 a year to have a sign stuck up in a roadside field it helps pay his taxes. A lecture on the value of beauty may impress him abstractly, but it has no cash-in-the-pocket practicability about it.

In this situation, because it is so obvious that the scenic values of the Upper Peninsula SHOULD have a value, even if it is hard to convert it into money yet, it is helpful to have evidence that there is progress toward this end. We have such evidence in the current state acquisition of Laughing Whitefish Falls in Alger County.

Celotex Corp. owns the falls and it is willing to exchange it with the state for woodlands in Baraga County. The 260 acres of Celotex Land was appraised at $22,689 and the 1,440 acres of state-owned land in Baraga to be exchanged was appraised at $40,375. But an esthetic value of $8,000 was placed on the falls and gorge below the falls, so the Celotex property became more valuable than that which the state is proposing for exchange.

Laughing Whitefish Falls plunge 100 feet and are about 20 feet in width. The river, a trout stream, flows through the Celotex lands for more than a mile.

The price of $40,375 — with $8,000 assigned for esthetic value — strikes us as modest, and we're sure that eventually it will be cited by posterity as an example of the bargains that were about when Peter Minut was buying Manhattan Island from the Indians for $24 or the State of Michigan was buying waterfalls from private owners in the Upper Peninsula for $40,000.

A waterfall is beyond price. Nature only provides a few of them where her streams course out into lower areas over a hard lip and they inspire humans who have high esthetic sense.

It is the hoped-for development of this sense that makes Laughing Whitefish Falls such a great bargain. When, not so very many years hence, our urbanization has gone to near limit and only park wardens and light-housekeepers are living in the outland, a city dweller will say to a cousin living in the same high rise:

"How come we never met before, and us relatives, living in the same building for three years?"

"I guess because you live on the 37th floor in 'E' wing and we're on the 69th in 'F'."

"Pretty wonderful, the way cities have grown, isn't it?"

"Yeah, but I'm a little sick of looking out and seeing only other windows. I wish I was rich enough to see more of nature."

"Did you ever see Laughing Whitefish Falls?"

"Yeah, that's what I mean."

Peter Ustinov, the actor, speaking to the British Institute of Directors in London recently quoted Los Angeles financier Bart Lytton in a paraphrase: "A thing of beauty is a profit forever."

The Doctor Says:

Coughs Save Lives

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

A cough is nature's way of trying to rid your respiratory tract of some irritant. This does not include the so-called polite cough used at times to announce your presence. When a cough succeeds in raising sputum that can be expelled, it is definitely helpful. A coughing fit may even save your life when a foreign body gets lodged in your windpipe. On the other hand, a dry, hacking cough is merely a source of annoyance to you and your close associates. Often when a fit of coughing starts it is hard to stop, just as it is hard to stop an itch by scratching it.

Any cough that persists for more than two weeks should be investigated by your doctor because it may mean that your acute bronchitis is becoming chronic. Chronic bronchitis is serious because it may progress to an emphysema (difficulty in expelling inhaled air) or bronchiectasis (dead air sacs in the outer-most spaces of the lungs). Furthermore, a chronic cough may be due to early tuberculosis or cancer. One of the commonest causes of such a cough in our cities, however, is air pollution.

If your cough is moist and sputum is raised, no effort should be made to suppress it. Instead expectorant drugs may be used to help liquefy the sputum and prevent it from blocking the lower air sacs. The dry hack on the other hand should be suppressed with an antitussive drug especially if the cough is exhausting or prevents sleep.

Treating the cough (which is only a symptom) is never as important as discovering the disease that is causing it and treating that. This usually involves a thorough physical examination, chest X-rays and sputum tests.

Finally there is the nervous cough which is more a habit than a cough. This type usually disappears, temporarily at least, when the cougher is busy or absorbed in something that deeply interests him.

Q — My doctor says I have a lesion in my right lung. What is a lesion? Is it serious?

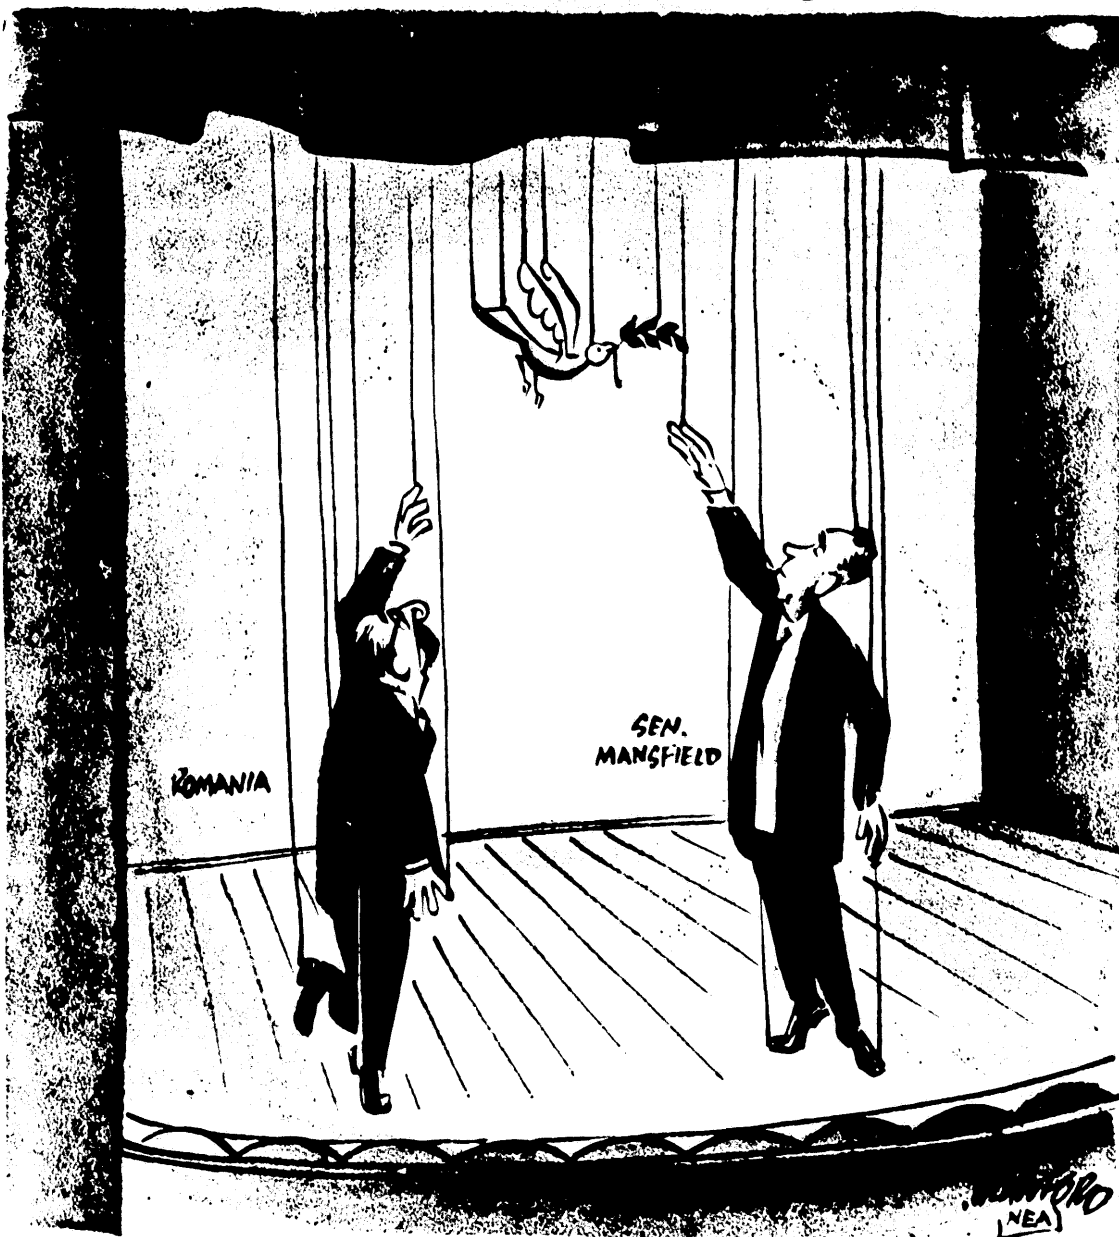

A — Any damage to tissues (a cut, bruise, fracture, tumor, etc.) is a lesion. A lesion in your lung could be due to pneumonia, tuberculosis, cancer, histoplasmosis or any number of things. The severity and treatment required must be determined by your doctor.

Birdnaper Sought

LAHAINA, Maui, Hawaii (UPI) — Maui police today sought a "birdnaper" who is holding a two-year-old macaw for ransom.

Officers said someone stole the red and gold bird from a restaurant and called the owners Monday demanding $50 for its return.

Who's Pulling the Strings?

May Reap Sabotage BARBS

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A proposal circulating in high Administration quarters would give the Communists in North Viet Nam a taste of their own medicine.

It advocates vigorous (but unadmitted) underground subversion of Ho Chi Minh's Red government in Hanoi.

The proposal is backed by some key civilians and military men in Saigon and Washington. Its details are now being discussed. Whether the proposal will be adopted is not yet known.

Under this program:

1. Notable former leaders from North Viet Nam now living in Saigon would form a Council of Liberty for North Viet Nam.

This council would develop a program for the liberation of the people now under Hanoi's rule. With considerable fanfare, this group would announce a basic platform of political aims for a "free" north.

This platform would serve as the basis of all U. S. and Vietnamese psychological operations against North Viet Nam.

2. The small group of agents in the north would be greatly expanded. The extremely limited intelligence nets would be multiplied. Sabotage would become part of a long-time sustained program.

Resistance groups would gradually be recruited in the north and trained for both intelligence and guerrilla actions.

A portion of these groups would concentrate on promoting "popular sabotage" — the type that can be carried out by ordinary workers and farmers. Acts of "popular sabotage" are small enough and vague enough at any time and place so that the Communist authorities hesitate to mete out reprisals. Ideally, the Reds wouldn't be certain against whom to bring reprisals.

(Well-done "popular" sabotage would consist of acts seemingly so accidental that the authorities couldn't be certain they were sabotage. Their cumulative effect could be substantial.)

3. Other groups would carry out dramatic acts of obvious sabotage or harassment. These would be deceptive operations, designed to convince Ho's officials that subversive activist movements were well-developed and strongly supported.

4. The substantial potential for guerrilla operations in North Viet Nam by tribal and minority groups would be strongly supported and exploited.

Black Thai and other groups have already sent emissaries to the "Meo" commander in Laos, asking for weapons and other support.

At least one other large tribal group is known to have well-advanced plans and obvious support of their people for substantial, locally based harassing actions against the Hanoi regime and its officials.

The men who argue for these militant programs say they would give Ho more reason to restrain his aggression in the south than the controlled aerial bombing now being carried out.

If the liberation-sabotage-tribal — guerrilla steps were pushed with energy, Ho might feel forced to devote more of his limited resources to control of North Viet Nam.

Following a recent trend, crime rates rose slower in big cities than in small towns and suburbs. The FBI recorded a 2 per cent hike in cities with population of more than one million and a 7 per cent increase in towns and suburbs.

The FBI said it found no general jump in farm area crime rates, but reported a 2 per cent increase in murders. The robbery rate declined 10 per cent and auto thefts dropped 8 per cent.

GOOD THINKING

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Bob Fain recalls the time a friend, who travels extensively, came home late and without his keys.

He rapped at the door but couldn't raise anyone; the wife and children were asleep.

He even pecked at his wife's bedroom window but got no response.

Finally, he stood at the window and called softly, "Mama."

She awoke.

As a resident of Escanaba, I am pleased with the support being given to the scheduled millage referendum to provide funds for airport development. I am convinced that what is good for developing Escanaba is also good for contributing to my enjoyment here.

As a landowner of Delta County, I am pleased about the reputation that development of the efforts of organizations and businessmen to inform voters about the issue involved. I admire their public endorsement and their willingness to be individually counted as favoring the millage proposal.

As father of four children, I recognize there is room for improvement in the educational and cultural programs of the community. I see the need for millage to accomplish those things that I think all children should have to help prepare them to be responsible citizens in the future.

As a voter, I am willing to stand up and be counted as a "Yes" vote together with the citizens and businessmen of the community. I do this with the belief that the economic cost to me will exceed any financial return I might realize. I do this fully expecting that those who so strongly profess community need for "economic development" on this particular issue will likewise respond to "individual need" on future issues.

Escanaba needs the approval of more than just one issue.

(under a picture) Tony Chapekis, Greek merchant here is shown in the ballet-skirted justanella, which he wore when he served with the Greek army in the Balkan War in 1912. The Greek army as a whole, of course, is predominantly attired in a conventional type of military uniform but those similar to the one Chapekis wore, are the garb of the mountain troops or ezones (from the Greek word for "well girdled") and the ezonaki enjoys greater prestige than the ordinary soldier.

The annual venison feed of the Escanaba Lions club will be the gustatory feature of the club's meeting. The event is in charge of the Deer Slayers. George Coplan who provided the buck will do the honors.

Nikolas Pavlov has returned from Ann Arbor where he received a course of treatment at the University hospital. Mr. Pavlov is now fully recovered and is prepared to give more effective service to his patrons.

Emmett Cooney was elected captain of the Escanaba high school team for the season of 1916. The election of the team captain followed the regular school session and the naming of Cooney proved a most popular selection with the student body.

Fifteen members of this season's first team are to receive sweaters bearing the letter "E" in the school colors of orange and black. The sweaters will be of the heavy roll collar variety and will be delivered to the members of the team within two weeks.

In our fast-urbanizing country, where can a lazy guy go to let the grass grow under his feet?

Nowadays, there's more bustle everywhere, except on the fashion scene.

Popularity of Italian food finds spaghetti sauce a close rival to soup as a necktie spotter.

What is the curved tail of the sea horse used for?

A—For holding on to the narrow blades of turtle grass or seaweed, which it does most of the time.

Q—How do sharks differ from most fish with respect to bone structure?

A—They have gristle instead of true bone in their skeletons.

Q—What is Pope Paul's temporal title?

A—Sovereign of the State of Vatican City.

Q—What make of violin did Paganini play?

A—A Guarnerius, which he bequeathed to the city of Genoa, Italy.

Q—What is the flight speed of the green-winged teal?

A—Estimates credit it with anywhere from 30 to 160 miles per hour—but to travel at the latter speed it would obviously need a powerful tail wind.

Ann Landers

They Would Be Called Oddballs

Dear Ann Landers: I was offended by your cutting reply to the woman who wanted to be the sole breadwinner in the family while her husband kept house. You said she was "kooked up" and called her "Sir."

Surely you know many people are unsuited for the roles which society decrees they must play. Some men don't belong in the business world and some women don't belong in the home.

In Australia, for example, certain aborigine tribes practice complete reversal of the roles as we know them. The women do the hunting, make the tribal decisions and run the family. The men stay home, care for the children, do the cooking and primp (like our women) so they will be attractive to their wives. According to anthropologists they are reasonably content.

Personally, I believe the lady who wrote will be happier (and so will her husband) if they do what comes naturally and are not concerned with what others think. — INTERESTED READER

Dear Interested: If these people lived in the Australian bush they would have no problem, but in Hartford if they changed roles they might well be considered peculiar.

I entered no judgment as to whether it was right or wrong. I did say they are bound to be considered oddballs — and believe me, they would be.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 20-year-old girl who lives with my married sister and her husband. I have a good job in a bank.

My sister is wonderful to me but I hate her husband. He calls my sister "stupid" and "ignorant." If he doesn't feel like going out he makes her cancel plans at the last minute. If he wants to go out, she has to go, no matter how tired she is.

My sister is a beautiful girl. If she left this ox she could marry a man who would treat her like a queen. The vice president of the bank has asked me questions about her. When I told her, she said, "Forget it. Bill is a good father. That means a lot to me."

How can I save my sister from throwing away her life on this rat? — STANDING BY

MANISTIQUE The Deer Were Fewer This Year

Sportsmen and hunters who say the deer kill was lighter in the area this year and that deer seem to be fewer in number will find themselves in agreement with the Conservation Department.

The Newberry district office says the kill is down 18 to 20 per cent, due to fewer numbers in the herd.

This came at a time when the area had its greatest influx of hunters in years, due to a later opening of the season downstate.

The Department says 37,830 cars with hunters were recorded northbound and 37,807 southbound, as the season downstate opened. The Straits tally was 10,938 deer and 102 bear taken across.

Exceptions to the reduced kill in the Peninsula were Seney Wildlife Refuge, opened for the first time this year and with a good hunter success, the Cusino area, and Drummond Island.

Drummond had 500 bow hunters with good success and reported 267 deer shot by permittees in the first day, with 117 of these antlerless deer.

A number of deer in the two to four age groups were noted in the kill, making up for fewer 1½-year-olds due to starvation.

The season saw more violations reported: lighter illegal kill. There were 16 lost hunters, one fatal accident, 12 emergency messages and 115 arrests recorded by the district.

Weather was better for hunting in the second week, though roads were sloppy and snow-covered. Local hunters reported finding a few deer sighted.

Conservation officers also noted fewer deer, by night survey and pellet count. The district covers the five east U. P. counties excluding the west half of Alger.

The season report shows two sightings of moose in the Newberry area, and a pack of at least six wolves in the Tahquamenon Falls area, 30 miles north of Newberry. One dead wolf was found in a Trout Lake coyote trap. The department plans to live trap the wolves, placing them in a more desolate area. Two head of cattle have been killed by wolves in the Tahquamenon area, where it is believed two adults and four pups are in a pack.

The moose sightings, by conservation and fire officers, were reported south and north of Newberry. That south of the village was a bull, cow and calf. Two were reported north of Newberry.

Year's Cruise Ends With Crew From 6 Nations

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—The U.S. guided missile destroyer Claude V. Ricketts today ended a year of demonstrating how NATO countries might operate a seaborne nuclear force with crews of mixed nationality.

The Ricketts and her 335-man crew from six countries were hailed in ceremonies here for the success of the demonstration, which was first proposed by the late President John F. Kennedy.

The seaborne Multilateral Nuclear Force (MLF) proposed by the Kennedy administration apparently was as far from reality as ever. But the Ricketts and her mixed crew showed during 50,000 miles of steaming that the ship operation is feasible if diplomats ever decide NATO needs such force.

Turkey withdrew its contingent last February.

At the time the ship began its demonstrations, Washington was pushing hard the concept of the MLF, intended to be a fleet of surface ships with crews of mixed nationality and armed with polaris missiles to serve as an integrated NATO nuclear deterrent.

German Backing
The concept was favored chiefly by the U.S. State Department. It was never considered a military requirement by the U.S. defense Department. The strongest overseas proponent was, and remains, West Germany.

The late U.S. Vice-Chief of Naval Operations, Adm. Claude V. Ricketts was in charge of operational aspects of the MLF studies in Washington. His name was given to the demonstration ship after he died in July, 1964, as the crew was being formed.

The Ricketts carries, not polaris missiles, but rather anti-aircraft missiles which were judged adequate to test the mixed-manning concept.

The ship operated with the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean and with the U.S. 2nd Fleet in NATO exercises in the Atlantic.

DOMESTICATED REINDEER
Domesticated reindeer first made their appearance in America in 1892, when 162 Siberian animals were landed at Teller, Alaska, for the benefit of hungry Indians and Eskimos.

Changes In Benefits

Social Security Service Extended

The social security district office in Escanaba will remain open from 8:30 a. m. to noon each Saturday for the next three weeks, beginning Dec. 4, for convenience of residents of the area, says Arnold T. Williams, social security district manager. These Saturday morning hours are in addition to the regular 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. schedule of office hours, Monday through Friday.

Bite

A new rate of social security payroll deductions is scheduled to go into effect beginning with the first wages paid in January 1966. These contributions will be paid on a new earnings base — $6,600 — rather than on a base of $4,800 as previously. Questions about it can be addressed to the Social Security office at 110 N. 13th St., Escanaba, telephone ST-62632.

Williams said it is important for many people to get in touch with the office to take advantage of the health insurance and other provisions of

Plan Baskets For Veterans

The American Legion is again sponsoring a project to provide Christmas food baskets to distressed and needy veterans and their dependents in the community. It was announced today by Elmer Bonifas, commander of Cloverland Post No. 82, Escanaba.

The project has been a community service program of the Legion locally for 39 years and it is aimed primarily at needy children so they might have a brighter Christmas and enjoy some of the goodies that go with the holiday season.

C. Elmer Olson has been appointed by Commander Bonifas as chairman of the Christmas Basket Committee.

The remembrance of those "a little less fortunate" at Christmas time is described by Commander Bonifas as "typical of the Christmas spirit, when holiday baskets carry a message of cheer and spread happiness."

the 1965 amendments to the social security program. The three major groups of people affected are:

1. People who are now 65 or older but who are not entitled to social security benefits. Some of these people are eligible for benefits but have not applied for them because they are still working full time. It is desirable for these people to apply now to establish their social security benefit rights and to qualify for the hospital insurance protection that begins in July 1966. No one can lose by applying for benefits as soon as he reaches 65 (those who retire between 62 and 65 may receive cash benefits but in a permanently reduced amount). They are not eligible for hospital insurance until they reach 65).

Many people 72 or older are not now getting benefits because they (or their husbands) had not worked enough under social security to qualify. Many of these people will now be eligible for cash benefits because the new law reduces the amount of work required for most people 72 or older.

2. Widows 60 or 61 years of age who under the old law would have been eligible for widows benefits at age 62. They may now apply for social security benefits as early as age 60 if they wish to accept a permanently reduced amount.

3. Unmarried students 18 to 22 years of age whose social security benefits and are nearing age 18, and who plan to continue in school. Upon application, monthly benefits can be paid back to January 1965 to unmarried students who were under 22 in January 1965 and who were dropped from the social security rolls when they reached 18.

Wolverine Shoe Gets 'E' Award

ROCKFORD (UPI)—The Wolverine Shoe and Tanning Corp. has been selected to receive the President's "E" Award for excellence in developing export markets.

The presentation will be made Thursday at Wolverine's headquarters in Rockford, by U.S. Department of Commerce officials.

Wolverine makes Hush Pup-pies casual shoes whose international sales have jumped from 56,000 pairs in 1960 to more than 4 million pairs in 1964.

HOLIDAY HANGING — This colorful wall plaque takes only minutes to make. Cover a cardboard rectangle with red cotton corduroy and add holiday motifs cut from glitter-sprinkled cotton batting. The motifs will cling to the fabric without glue. For quick edging, pin on a rope of cotton batting entwined with red and green string. Hang to wall with velvet ribbon.

Clevenger Will Address Demos

Congressman Raymond F. Clevenger (D-Sault Ste. Marie) will be speaker at two county Democratic leader schools in the Upper Peninsula.

The one-day schools are sponsored by the Michigan Democratic State Central Committee on Dec. 4, at the Soo Savings Bank, Sault Ste. Marie at 9 a. m. and Dec. 4 in the Caspian City Hall in Iron County at 11 a. m.

Workshop sessions will be held on voter identification how to run an effective county organization, the Legislature Information For Teamwork and Operation Support programs, party organization, public relations, how to conduct party finance drives and planning a state and local campaign. Participants will be able to choose two sessions to attend.

Clevenger will speak at a noon luncheon in Sault Ste. Marie and in the afternoon at Caspian. All Democrats in Northern Michigan's 11th Congressional District are invited.

Program participants will include Neil Staebler, Democratic national committeeman; Zoltan Foreney, state chairman; Avelaide Hart, state vice-chairman; Jim Harrison, party director of public relations; and Mrs. Gerhard Weinberg, state chairman of Operation Support.

Aged Patient Dies In Fall

POWERS—Joseph A. Bray, 77, of Vulcan, a patient at Powers Medicare Facility, was killed instantly Friday when he fell three floors to his death.

Dr. Ernest Pieper, medical director at the facility, said today Bray often had episodes of dizziness and would always seek fresh air. He said Bray apparently opened the window to get air, fainted and fell through a screen covering the window and to his death three floors below.

Menominee County sheriff's patrol deputies and state police at the scene said the mishap occurred at 11:30 a. m. CST.

Bray had been a patient at the Medicare facility on two occasions, according to Dr. Pieper. He was first admitted in March of this year, released, and admitted again in October.

Dr. Pieper said Bray had a heart condition. Bray is survived by seven children and has several brothers and sisters in Poland.

Capers are not a type of pepper but the unopened flower buds of a tropical plant, preserved in vinegar.

One Day Left:

Need For Blood Continues High

The increasing need to meet blood quotas and maintain supplies of blood and blood derivatives for Delta County people and U. S. fighting forces in Viet Nam is not being met here, the Red Cross reports.

The reasons are several, including the absence of men who might have become donors had they not been in the woods hunting deer at the time of the donor recruiting effort, the Red Cross added.

The three-day blood procurement clinic opened in Gladstone on Tuesday and is continuing today and Thursday in Escanaba.

At Gladstone the quota was 71 pints of blood and there were 58 pints contributed. Gladstone residents were advised that their community will be given the proper credit should they become donors while the clinic is in Escanaba.

Twenty-four persons signed as donors at Gladstone but only 13 kept their appointment; 49 persons walked in to give blood; and of the total, four donors were rejected for medical reasons.

The bloodmobile is at the First Presbyterian Church in Escanaba today from 2:30 to 7:30 p. m.; and on Thursday (the final day of the present schedule) the hours are 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

The quota is 110 pints for each day and to achieve this goal it will be required that many more volunteers show up than have made appointments, the Red Cross reports. Persons who wish an appointment are asked to phone ST-63214 or ST-6371.

Raffle Winner

SPRING LAKE, N.J. (UPI)—Mary Anne Murray, 17, has stopped buying raffle tickets. She wants to quit while she's ahead.

In the past year, with odds estimated at 150 million to one, she has won two Cadillacs and a Ford automobile in raffles. Before that, she had won prizes worth $100 and $200.

Mrs. Olga Nickel Of Traunik Dies, Services Thursday

TRENTON — Mrs. Henry (Olga) Nickel, 63, of Traunik died at 4:50 p.m. Monday at St. Mary's Hospital, Marquette, where she had been a patient two months. She had been ill for the past three years.

Mrs. Nickel was born Oct. 18, 1902, in Mohawk, and had lived at Winters and in Traunik since she was a small child. She was a member of the First Lutheran Church, Trenton.

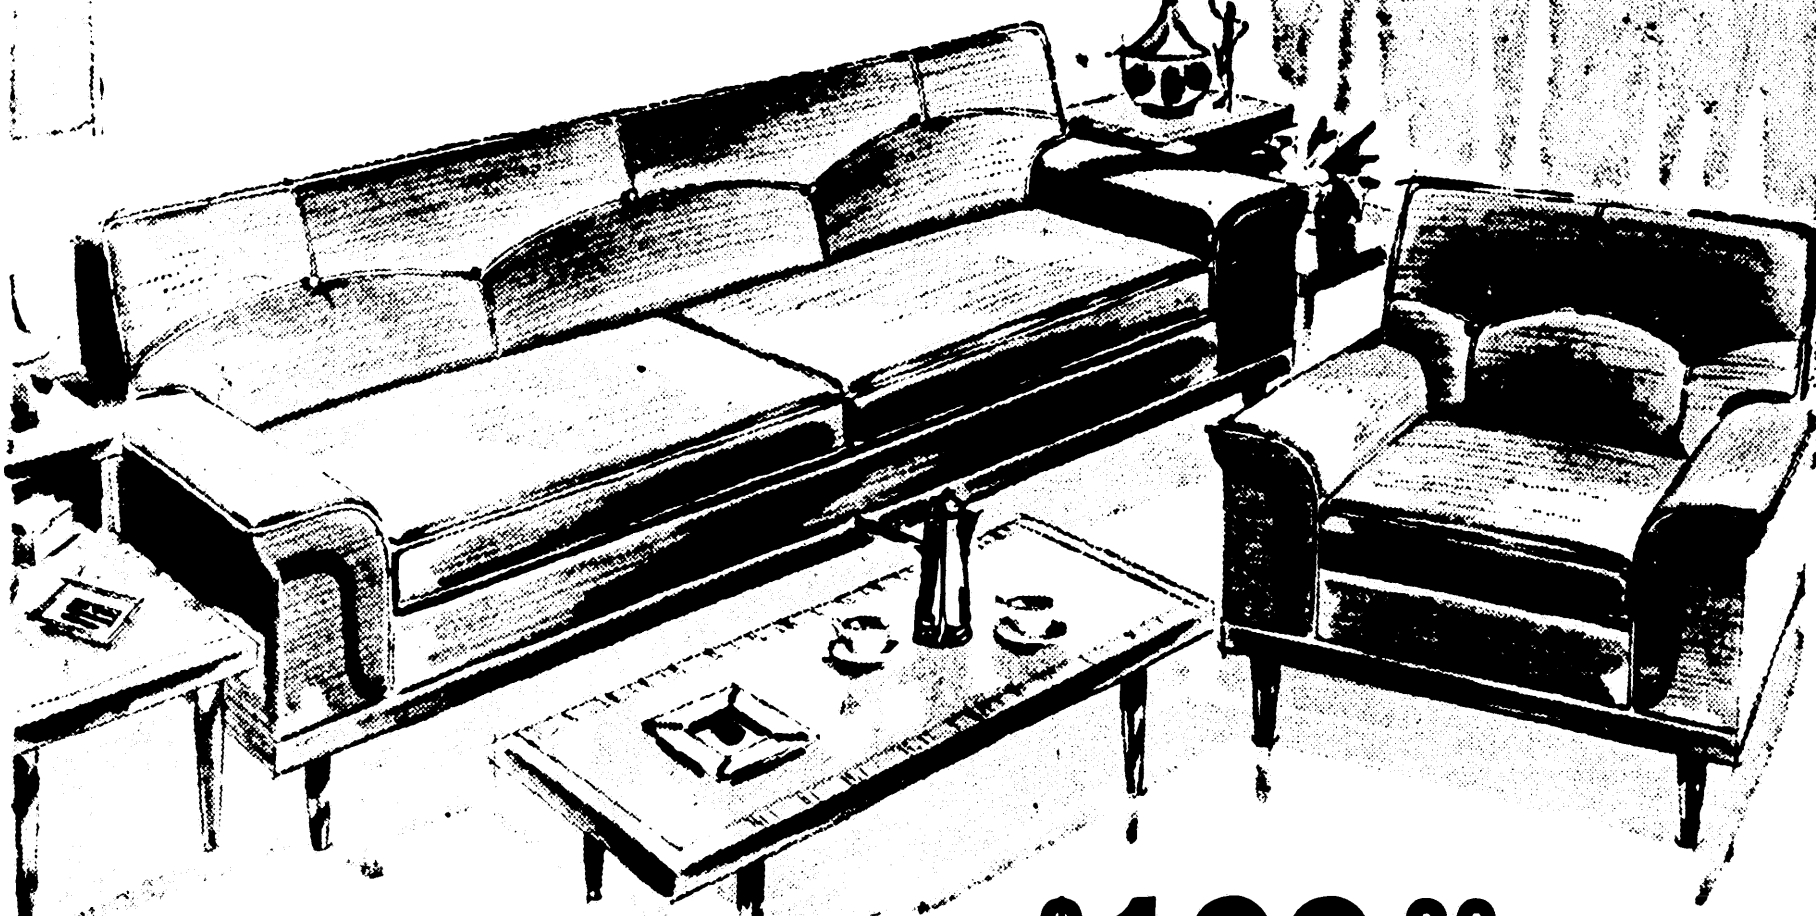

Survivors include her husband, Henry; four daughters, Mrs. Marvin (Helen) Harkinson, Pomona, Calif., Mrs. Junior (Dorothy) Ricci, Wausau, Wis., Mrs. Robert (Viola) Serfas, Marquette, and Mrs. Paul (Juanita) Holmgren, Green Bay, Wis.; two sons, George of Middleton, Wis., and Ronald of Green Bay; one sister, Mrs. Hilma Hannuksela of Ewen; one brother, William Savola of Trenton; and 26 grandchildren and 45 nieces and nephews.

By HELEN HENNESSY
Newspaper Enterprise
Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA)—Christmas shopping for the opposite sex can be a pretty taxing proposition — taxing both the money coffers and the mental processes.
A capable business executive who runs his organization with a firm hand is reduced to helplessness in the lingerie or perfume departments. And although every woman feels sure she knows just how a man should dress, she's often nonplussed when surrounded by men's haberdashery. And then settles for some correct, but prosaic, white shirts.

Let's give the ladies a peek into what's happening in the world of men's fashions so that some of the chaps will enjoy more than just the gift wrappings Christmas morning.

Color is your strong point, girls. It is conceded by leaders in the men's fashion field that color combination sense is more highly developed in women. In fact, even the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear admits that many an otherwise well-dressed man will spoil the total effect by choosing a scarf, socks or handkerchief in the wrong colors.

Since the correct accent for all occasions makes the difference between a distinguished-looking fellow and a Mr.
Blank who gets lost in a crowd of two, here are some tips for the Santa on skirts.

If you're buying slacks to go with a brown, camel or gray jacket, they should be tan, brown or gray. For an olive jacket, slacks should be gray or tan, or in warm climates, white. And a gray jacket could also be teamed with black or white.

Then there are silk pocket squares. Their use has now spread to semiformal outfits, business clothes and casual wear. With business or casual clothes avoid exactly matching ties and pocket squares.

Try to find something that will complement the color scheme of his outfit rather than match it perfectly.

Don't stick to white shirts as Christmas gifts. Try one of the new shades—a versatile orange-tan, a deep blue or gray or a warm tan or "peach" color.

Ties are a touchy proposition. Christmas ties have become as great a target of so-called humorists as mothers-in-law. It may be wise to let him buy his own. But the adventurous may want to chance a gift of the new big paisley prints on foulard silks that wear well with both town and country outfits.

You can't let him out in the cold, cold world without a muffler. Surprise him with one of the new reversibles that switch from silk to wool, color to color or pattern to plain.

If jewelry is your choice for him, it will help to know that tricky geometries and garish shapes and stones have been replaced with more tailored shapes and authentic Florentine finishes. And initial designs have been received in everything from links to key cases.

You probably won't buy his shoes and place them under the tree. A gift certificate is a lot safer in this area. But go with him when he redeems it and give him your advice as a bonus gift.

Of course, if you think you're married to the man who has everything — guess

PACKAGING THE MALE: With a little imagination a gal can find her way around the men's shops and come up with a good-looking gift for the man on her Christmas list.
Introduce him to the new walking or after-ski boots lined in black fleece and a pair of long patterned wool socks (left) to wear with the new ski knickers. Start him on a usually go bang, bang. Or a set of links that will hold his mull right at the end of his cutts where they are always at hand?

They're available. So wind your practical or imaginative way to the haberdasher with the confidence of one who has done her homework.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: I heard a radio and TV master of ceremonies make the statement that Heloise is really a man.

I adore men, but that statement (heard by thousands) disturbs me greatly, because I saw you on a television show, and knew you immediately from seeing your picture, and you were all woman, and also lovely.

For the sake of all your devoted fans and friends, please reassure them that you are a woman.

Mrs. Lewis Carmean

Honey, the television camera showed the "true picture." I am married to a sweet, bald-headed man, six-feet-two, I'm five-feet-two and weigh 114 pounds.

We have a married son who is 23 years old, and a daughter 14.

That should answer any questions, don't you think?

The same old rumor has popped up many times, and probably will many more, but don't let it worry you. I'm really just me!

Plain--ol' Heloise

Dear Heloise: I fry several slices of diced bacon at one time for dressing-up salads, spinach, etc., put it in a cup, and store in the refrigerator.

Just take out a spoonful or any amount wanted, and add to the dressing, etc.

Saves time and effort.

Also when I make macaroni and cheese, I cook extra macaroni to store in a covered container in the refrigerator, for making macaroni salad another day.

Mrs. R. G. Crouch

If you'll keep that cooked macaroni under water in a jar, it will be better.

Heloise

Dear Heloise: Why spend extra money for magnetic pot holders when you can make them yourself?

Just buy a couple of little magnets (they can be found in most dime stores). Place one on a pot holder. Cut a strip of iron-on tape, lay this over the magnet and iron away!

Heloise

Dear Heloise: We dip fish or chicken in thick-ground pretzels before frying.

This makes a golden, brown crust, with an unusual flavor. (And, you don't need quite as much salt as usual.)

Martha E. Jones

Copyright, 1965, King Features

When the pot holder is old and ready to be thrown away, save the magnet for a new pot holder.

Barbara C.

Dear Heloise: I have been sick for some time and have to have plenty of pills, so when the bottles were empty, I removed the labels and used the bottles for things I needed in the hospital.

I put small change in two of the bottles, bobby pins in another, and hair nets in one. They didn't take up much space, sealed nicely, and kept the drawer clean.

Mrs. B. Fitch

Dear Heloise: If you have two children who are always quarreling because they share a bedroom, try building a bookcase, or anything of that sort, three-fourths of the way to the ceiling and two-thirds the length of the room, and using it as a room divider.

This will give the children a sense of privacy.

Kathie Boraas

Dear Heloise: If you have a tube of lipstick on which the outer cover is too loose, and may come off in your purse, cover the outside of the inner tube with nail polish (sometimes it takes two coats).

Be sure to let it dry well before putting together again. (I use clear polish, and it doesn't show.)

Reader

Blouses are so bulky around the bottom seam if worn inside a skirt, especially when wearing a suit.

I cut out the bottom hem with pinkish shears, and the blouse doesn't show a seam around the stomach or hips.

Mrs. R. G. Crouch

Two Supervisors Favor 'Yes' Vote On Airport Issue

Two more Delta County Supervisors have asked for a "yes" vote in the county-wide airport millage election Monday in response to a Daily Press questionnaire.

Of 11 supervisors returning the questionnaire, a "yes" vote on the proposal is favored 7-4. Fifteen of Delta County's 27 supervisors have failed to answer.

Delta County will vote on the following proposal: Shall Delta County levy a tax not to exceed two mills for one year for the purpose of sharing the costs of capital improvements, including a terminal building and extended runways, for the publicly owned airport in Escanaba.

The Daily Press asked four questions of each of the county's supervisors:

1. Do you favor a "yes" vote? 2. Why? 3. Will you regard a "yes" vote as a directive to Delta County to take over the airport from the City of Escanaba? 4. Do you think the area's economic growth will be hindered by a "no" vote? Why?

Air Service Grows
Latest responses came from supervisors Harold Gustafson of Ensign Township and Harold Vanlerberghe of Escanaba. Both favored "yes" votes.

"The air service from Delta County is growing, which brings up the need for continued expansion of the airport to properly serve passengers, mail and freight," Gustafson wrote. "The present status of the airport is very inadequate. I could point out many matters other than the runways that affect the personal comforts of the passengers."

"In making this statement I feel I have some insight into the increased travel by air that has developed in recent years," Gustafson continued. "In using air travel service the last several years I have observed the mammoth increase of air travel taking place."

"Let's approve the two mill levy for one year and be ready for the DC-9 transport jets that are now on order by North Central Airlines," Gustafson said. "Do we want the neighboring airports to excel and reduce our chances of advancing with the needs of the times?"

Asks 'Yes' Vote
"With county-wide financial support the Board of Supervisors would be charged with the responsibility of setting up a proper administrative body," he continued. "Vote 'yes' next Monday and keep Delta County up front in this march of progress."

Vanlerberghe concurred with Gustafson.

"As one employed in the traffic and transportation field for the past 25 years, I can recognize that air transportation is an integral part of our national and international transportation system," he wrote. "The local airport is of crucial importance because of its public obligation to serve all of the public. A YES vote will permit changes at the airport by providing adequate facilities to carry out this obligation to our citizens. It will be an investment towards greater economic benefits for our area."

Economy Cited
"A YES vote will, in my opinion, be a directive by the citizens for the county to take over the airport and its management—possibly through an airport authority created by the County Board of Supervisors. The Public Affairs Committee and the Delta County Planning Commission have recognized the need for upgrading the airport facilities. This is one of the problems covered in the county's 'Overall Economic Plan' developed back in 1961."

"A negative vote would mean that needed improvements at the airport will be left undone," Vanlerberghe continued. "It could mean the loss of potential business and industries to other areas, resulting in a loss of jobs and the loss of an expanded tax base for Delta County."

Loot Recovered; Robber Admits Killing Guard

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Police said Tuesday they have recovered $6,000 worth of jewelry and $22,500 in bonds stolen by Charles Eaton, 32, who pleaded guilty to slaying a private policeman in a separate theft attempt.

Officers said Eaton admitted stealing the jewelry and bonds in separate thefts before Nov. 6 when he shot and killed Jack McMullen, a private policeman who caught Eaton trying to break into a lumber company safe.

Eaton pleaded guilty Monday to a second degree murder charge in McMullen's death. He told authorities McMullen pointed a pistol at him and he shot the man in self defense.

The prosecutor's office said it had dismissed aiding and abetting charges against Mrs. Oriene Pleyce, 34, Eaton's alleged girlfriend, for lack of evidence.

Durand Band Wins Contest

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — The Durand, Mich., High School Band Tuesday was named the winner over 99 other competing schools in the Disneyland Holiday Marching Band Contest judged from films and tape recordings sent here.

As winners, the 116 band members and their director, Robert L. Green, will participate in the Rose Bowl Pageant and will attend the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day as part of a seven-day expenses paid trip.

The Durand band will escort parade Grand Marshal Walt Disney in the parade. Later the band will participate in a special Mary Poppins Day at Disneyland.

To win the contest the band had to enter a color film and a tape recording of their performance of a Disney scene. The band's subject was Mary Poppins.

The Durand band was the only band of less than 200 members entered in the final competition.

Contest officials said the band may be used in a trailer type film depicting a small town band winning a big contest.

A 24-piece band from San Diego won second place and a school in Montgomery, Ala., was third.

U.S. Steel Adds 2,750 Acres To K-C Forest Here

Two of the giants of Upper Peninsula landowning have swapped some acreage in Meyer (Hermansville) and Spalding townships in northern Menominee County.

J. B. Miller, woodlands manager of Kimberly-Clark Corp., of Neenah, Wis., said that transfer was an exchange and not a purchase, and that the difference in acreage exchange reflects a difference in value per acre, so that net result was an even exchange.

Oliver Iron Mining Division of U. S. Steel Corp., conveyed 2,750 acres of land in Menominee County to Kimberly-Clark for its Upper Peninsula forest management for pulpwood production and other wood products. Most of the land is in Meyer Township, with a little in the northwest part of Spalding Township.

The lands acquired by K-C fit strategically into its forest blockings. K-C is the largest private owner of timberlands in the Upper Peninsula with a total of more than 400,000 acres.

These woodlands help supply its pulp mills at Niagara, Wis., and in the Fox Valley with wood on a sustained yield management basis. K-C acquired nearly 17,000 acres of cutover forest lands in Meyer Township in 1941-44, mostly from the Wisconsin Land & Lumber Co. of Hermansville, which had started sawmilling operations in the area in 1878.

U. S. Steel Corp. retains a large land ownership in northern Menominee County which has been diamond drilled in iron exploration. The land is at the eastern extremity of the Menominee Iron Range. It acquired more than 40,000 acres of timberland from Ross Brothers of Manitowish, who operated a sawmill at Spalding at the turn of the century. These lands were part of the holdings of the Spalding Lumber Co. of Cedar River, which it sold in 1898 when it ended pine logging. The lands south of the Chicago & North Western Railway were sold to Samuel Crawford & Sons.

U. S. Steel will get from Kimberly-Clark in exchange for the Menominee County lands approximately 3,750 acres in Ashland and Iron counties, Wisconsin, plus 300 acres in Menominee County.

Revenue stamps indicated the value of the Menominee County lands at more than $90,000.

Housewife Sets Herself Afire At Holland, Mich.
HOLLAND (UPI)—A Holland, Mich., housewife was listed in critical condition Tuesday after apparently setting herself afire.

Authorities said Mrs. Alberta Melhorn, 28, received first and second degree burns over 90 per cent of her body after dousing herself with gasoline and setting herself afire.

Her husband, Rudolph, who was sleeping on a couch in the living room, smothered the flames as she ran from the utility room in a ball of flames. Melhorn told police his wife, who he said has had a history of mental problems, told him earlier she was going to set herself afire. However, police said they were unable to find any notes the woman had written.

She was taken to Holland Hospital and later to Butterworth Hospital, where doctors reported her condition as critical.

Antitrust Bus Case Settled

DETROIT (UPI)—The Justice Department and General Motors Corp. Tuesday settled a nine-year antitrust case designed to limit GM's dominance of bus manufacturing and to strengthen and expand the market.

The unprecedented agreement was outlined in a consent judgment entered in U.S. District court here Tuesday.

The Justice Department suit, filed July 6, 1956, charged the company of conspiring with four bus operating companies to monopolize the manufacture and sale of buses.

The suit was to have come to trial Dec. 13 before U.S. District Judge Theodore Levin here. The trial had been delayed up to now by numerous legal maneuvers and adjournments.

The agreement, according to Donald S. Turner, the Justice Department's antitrust chief, included "two unprecedented stipulations."

It was agreed that GM would reveal all bus patents it develops during the next 10 years and charge no royalties on the patents during the next five years.

Also, the agreement stipulated, the government may sue any time after three years but within 10 years to require the sale of any separate General Motors bus manufacturing plant if the bus market expands substantially or if a major competitor disappears. The company could oppose such a suit on grounds that the market could not absorb a new purchaser.

Armed Forces Gain 35,640

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The armed forces recorded an increase of 35,640 men during October, bringing combined strength to 2,759,440.

The Defense Department said Tuesday that the Army and Navy gained more than 14,000 men each, the Marines more than 5,000 and the Air Force more than 1,000. The Army now has 1,016,921, the Navy 704,811, the Marines 203,811 and the Air Force 833,897.

Costly Tomatoes

DENVER (UPI)—The U.S. Attorney's office has filed a $1,000 civil suit against Ethan Allen McCoy because of an incident involving a bag of tomatoes.

Federal agents said McCoy, 60, of Denver, boarded a Continental Air Lines plane with the tomatoes last August, pointed to the parcel and told stewardess, "This has a bomb in it."

The tomatoes, which cost McCoy 29 cents a pound, were confiscated.

Training Center At NMU Boosts U.P. Job Skills

By JEAN WORTH

MARQUETTE — One of the newest faces of modern schooling plays peekaboo in this city which is home to bustling Northern Michigan University.

It is the University's Area Training Center and it is a rather odd cousin for a university to have, but certainly in tune with modern education and with Northern. The Training Center is scattered about Marquette and you almost need a road map to find all of it.

The office and commercial training unit is in a former railroad station, the auto body repair shop is in the former Longyear diamond drill plant, and the auto mechanics shop is also there. The welding, appliance repair and other shops are in a multi-floor former garage building on Front St., and the data processing school is on campus.

1,250 'Graduates'

In 3 1/2 years this scattered conglomerate of vocational training has turned out 1,250 young persons with new job skills and with some basic education picked up in the process. Russell W. Adams, director of business and industrial services for Northern, says that 90 per cent of these people now are employed.

"We had about 5 per cent of the trainees leave before the end of their courses," said Adams "in order to take jobs and we had another 5 per cent attrition — they quit before the end of the course."

One of the most significant trends at the Center, says Adams, is the one affecting hiring of the trainees. When the Center started serving the Upper Peninsula with training for job skills — it had only a few courses then and now it offers 17 — it "exported" 20 per cent of the graduates to place them in jobs. Most of the skills taught couldn't be used in the U. P. employment, only 20 per cent of the trainees were placed in U. P. jobs.

Trained To Stay

But today, says Adams, 65 per cent of the trainees leave to find jobs outside the U. P. but 35 per cent stay here to work. "Diversification of occupational offerings at the Center has helped this result," says Adams. The Center plans other courses like tailoring, building maintenance and upholstery from which it could place all trainees in the U. P.

Looking ahead to the needs of both the people and the Upper Peninsula, says Adams, the Center would like to offer courses in such skills as micro-assembly. This is the assembly, under microscopic enlargers, of miniaturized transistor radios and other equipment. (They're so small they can fit in a ring setting or a hearing aid.)

"Such courses," said Adams "would give our U. P. workers new skills that are in demand and they would create here in the U. P. a pool of skilled assemblers which would be a reason for an industry setting up a micro-assembly plant here. We'd expect eventually to keep as many such assemblers in the U. P. as we exported.

Offer 17 Courses
"We think such skills would lead our manufacturers to venture more in a subcontracting. Such training would also have appeal to people with ability to learn refined skills."

In three years Northern's Training Center has come from modest beginning with instruction in welding, machine tools and secretarial work to its present 17 courses. It has a current investment in capital tools and equipment worth $1.5 million and employs 45 to 50 persons in the instruction of the trainees, who spend 8 hours a day at school, 6 hours in the shop and two in related work.

The teachers are highly skilled persons out of industry. "We teach them only how to be teachers," says Adams "they teach us how to be skilled workers."

The Training Center was started with aid under the Manpower Development and Training Act and it works in close relationship with the Department of Vocational Education of the State Department of Public Instruction and the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

It has 300 trainees buffing, grinding, typing, welding, studying every day and is adding new dimensions to the university's services. There's no baccalaureate degree but these 48-week wonders are exchanging jobless status for $3.50 an hour as welders. The Alumni Association ought to give them an honorary beanie.

Negro Is Guide

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Douglas Gee Jr., a 34-year-old Milwaukee native who has been working in the office of Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., today became the first Negro member of the Capitol's 25-person Corps of Guides.

The guides conduct tours for the hundreds of thousands of visitors to the Capitol each year. Gee's appointment was arranged by House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass.

Captives Are Brain-Washed?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The commandant of the Marine Corps believes the Communists have brainwashed two U.S. soldiers who criticized American involvement in Viet Nam after their release from Viet Cong captivity.

Gen. Wallace M. Greene told a news conference Tuesday that would be his explanation of statements attributed to Sgt. George E. Smith of Chester, W. Va., and Spec. 5 Claude D. McClure of Chattanooga, Tenn.

The two men were freed by the Viet Cong this week after two years in captivity. At a news conference in Cambodia, soon after they crossed the border from Communist North Viet Nam, they spoke well of their treatment by the Reds and expressed a desire to quit the Army and lead an anti-war campaign in the United States.

But the man who organized last Saturday's "peace march" on Washington was wary of their conversion. "It sounds like they've been indoctrinated. If these were their own ideas, it would be wonderful, but if they are saying this as the result of intense indoctrination it's not so wonderful," said Sanford Gottlieb, political director of the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy (SANE).

Rep. Mack Seeks Ontario Joins Closer Check On MUCC Session Annual Deer Kill

IRON MOUNTAIN (UPI) — State Sen. Joseph S. Mack, D-Ironwood, will meet with the Michigan Conservation Commission today to discuss proposed Upper Peninsula projects and his suggestions for keeping closer tabs on the annual deer kill. Mack also announced that he will meet with the Kingsford City Commission and with officials from Wisconsin tonight to talk over contemplated road development in the Dickinson County area. Mack urged anyone having an interest in the subject to attend the 8 p.m. meeting.

Mack said the meeting with conservation officials at Iron Mountain would center on the antlerless deer hunting season, and the senator's recent proposal that all hunters be required to certify if they were successful in taking a deer during the season.

Bloodhounds are so-called because theirs was the first breed whose "blood" or breeding records were maintained.

LANSING (UPI) — The first international meeting of citizens' conservation groups has been scheduled for Dec. 11-12 in Windsor, Ont., by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs' board of directors.

Conservation officials from Michigan and Ontario are scheduled to participate in the meet, designed to promote better understanding and improved coordinated efforts to solve mutual resource management problems between the neighboring territories.

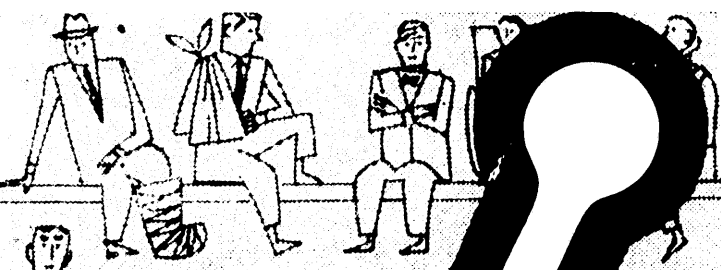

James L. Rouman, executive director of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, said the program would center around fish and pollution problems in the international waters bordering Michigan and Ontario.

The meeting will be hosted by the Windsor Sportsman's club, an affiliate of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters and an associate member of the Michigan Conservation Clubs.

Scheduled speakers include: Dr. Ralph A. MacMullan, Michigan director of Conservation and Deputy Minister Frank A. MacDougall of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests are both scheduled to speak Saturday morning. Others include Dr. Howard A. Tanner, Michigan fish expert; Dr. C.H. Clarke, Ontario fish and game chief; Dr. James A. Vance, chairman of the Ontario Water Resources Commission; and Michigan Assistant Atty. Gen. Nicholas Olds.

Sometimes we have to say no

Occasionally a customer asks us for some medication he's read about. And we must refuse him. The reason is that the particular medicine must be taken under a physician's supervision, and is available only on prescription. This is a safeguard to your health. As your pharmacist, we suggest you see a physician if you feel you need potent medication. We'll be happy to fill his prescription. Till then, perhaps our greatest service is saying "No."
